

4. A HAIRY TALE

Larsen has procrastinated the day of his test-taking until it's almost everlastingly too late. But as he arrives at the Testing Center in the Grant Building, he's about to face a different sort of examination.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN LARSEN TRIES
TO TAKE HIS TEST?

Larsen has to leave because he has a five-o'clock shadow at 9 am. Come on, you scruffy scoundrel! Haven't you heard about the Dress and Grooming Principles and Expectations?

WHY DIDN'T LARSEN SHAVE BEFORE COMING TO THE TESTING CENTER?

You discovered the root of these hirsute hijinks! Larsen is interested in Tanya, who has a thing for guys with beards. (She's a UVU student...) Larsen was hoping for a near-sighted Testing Center employee, but justice was served.

LARSEN STILL NEEDS TO TAKE HIS TEST.
WHAT FATE AWAITS HIS FACE?

Cast out from the Testing Center for his transgression, Larsen heads to the neighboring Brimhall Building and gets in a quick shave with his electric razor. (It turns out he suspected he might not pass inspection.) After cleaning up, he went back and took the midterm for his ethics class. He got a 78, but for the moment he's more worried that losing his beard might mean losing Tanya as well.

TANYA IS NOT GOING TO LIKE HIS NEW LOOK. LARSEN
THINKS A CERTAIN CAMPUS BUILDING MIGHT HAVE THE SOLUTION. WHERE DOES HE GO?

Naked-faced and ashamed,
Larsen scuttles to the Wilk.
Once there, he sneaks into the salon. What could our sheared student be up to now?

WHICH OF THE FOLLOWING IS NOT FOUND IN THE WILK?

- ☐ A A post office
- ☐ B Counseling and Psychological Services
- ☐ C A movie theater
- ☐ D The BYU Strategic Fudge Reserve

The BYU Strategic Fudge Reserve

Sadly, the BYU Strategic Fudge Reserve doesn't exist, but the Wilkinson Center does include a ballroom, the Skyroom restaurant, the BYU Store, a bowling alley, hair salon, food court, ping pong tables, and more!

In 2018, the BYU Store sold 9,243 pounds of fudge. 4,300 pounds were sold in August alone (thanks, Education Week!).

WHAT DOES LARSEN DO TO SAVE FACE BEFORE HIS DATE WITH TANYA?

Larsen takes his fistfuls of captured curls to the stream that runs by the Law School. Using the reflection in the water, he tries gluing the spare hair to his face.

Tanya, understandably, dumps him and his faux beard later that evening.
