

13. GONE WITH THE WIND

Evelyn has a difficult math exam that she must take today: it's the last day the test is open! She's bringing her notes and five bucks (for that gouging, retro-grade, infamous late fee) to the Testing Center so that she can cram in some last-minute review while waiting in the very long lines.

FIND EVELYN NEAR THE TREE OF WISDOM SCULPTURE

It's not a surprise that Evelyn made a stop here on her way to the Testing Center: students often touch the Tree when they feel they could benefit from some extra wisdom.

WHAT HAPPENS TO EVELYN AS SHE IS WALKING TOWARD THE TESTING CENTER?

When she passes by the Joseph Smith Building, a vehicle zooms by her at full speed, knocking her down! Evelyn tries in vain to collect her notes, but the wind picks them up, scattering them across campus.

FIND THE FIRST SET OF NOTES

These notes wove through campus until they entered the Tanner Building atrium, where a sensitive musician was trying to soothe the savage business beasts. The pianist was quite surprised when Evelyn dashed by, grabbing the notes that were hers and not his!

FIND THE SECOND SET OF NOTES

These notes flew through the air near the JFSB, where the BYUSA presidential candidates were handing out flyers and asking for volunteers to sign up for their campaign.

FIND THE THIRD SET OF NOTES

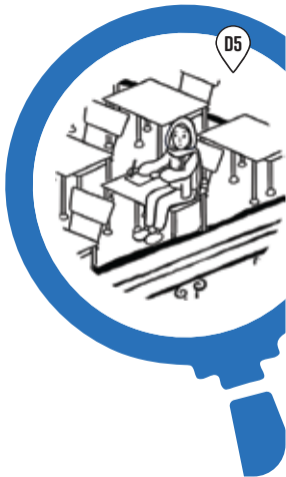

To Evelyn's embarrassment, these notes blew all the way back to the Benson Building, where none other than Dr. Fletcher, her math professor, caught them before they'd blown away.

DOES EVELYN MAKE IT TO HER
EXAM IN THE TESTING CENTER
(IN THE GRANT BUILDING)
BEFORE THE DOORS CLOSE?

After she collected all her notes, Evelyn made it to the back of the long line and studied frantically. She was the last person to be let inside! You can see her here, taking the stressful exam. Wish her luck!

HOW MANY STUDENTS CAN THE TESTING CENTER ACCOMMODATE AT THE SAME TIME?

- A 492
- B 748
- C 1875
- D 2060

748

The Testing Center administers more than 800,000 tests per year. The record for most tests given out in one day was set on June 16, 1999: 10,123!

The Grant Building was BYU's library until 1961 (the year that the Lee Library was completed).
